

PARTS I AND II

Table of Contents for Doctrines and Special Topics

These two major sections contain a wealth of handouts for participants in the RCIA process. Both sections are combined in the table of contents so that their complementarity can be more clearly seen, and the choice of handouts may be more easily made by parish RCIA leaders. Generally, these two large sections of handouts are written to be used as extensions to a given teaching, not as the “text” for the session. Therefore, they do not contain elements for use in a small group, such as discussion questions (which are instead provided in the companion Catechist’s Manual in accord with each lesson plan and in Part VII of this text).

The Doctrines and Special Topics handouts are designed to support the verbal communication of the faith, and therefore deliberately go into greater detail than a typical spoken RCIA catechesis. This allows the handouts to provide not only more depth on a given subject, but also more Sacred Scripture, as well as helpful references to the Catechism of the Catholic Church. Some participants may find this essential to gain a clear understanding of some aspect of the faith, while others may not feel the need to read much beyond what they have heard in the sessions. The handouts allow for that flexibility. If given to sponsors and team members, as well as to participants, the handouts will greatly aid in the difficulty that these volunteers often encounter in answering certain questions. RCIA directors and catechists may judge that additional handouts are needed in a given year that this Participant’s Book does not provide (or does not communicate in the desired degree of depth). Certain news events (such as a terrorist attack or a weather disaster), Church issues (such as public heresy or the pedophilia scandal), scientific developments (such as the rapidly changing fields of cloning, stem-cell research, and artificial methods of conception), or more commonly misunderstood moral issues (such as abortion, contraception, and the just war doctrine) may create the necessity of finding highly contemporary or more in-depth material to help RCIA participants gain a Catholic perspective on the situation, so as to build instead of threaten faith.

Notes regarding the Table of Contents:

- 1) Handouts are listed in alphabetical order, not in the order in which they are to be used.
- 2) Asterisked titles are found in Part II, Special Topics.
- 3) Titles beginning with “The” are alphabetized using the following word.
- 4) CAPITALIZED items are subject listings rather than titles.
- 5) Titles are extensively cross-referenced to facilitate assembling related handouts; this cross-referencing also exemplifies the organic unity of the Faith.
